Plane Catches Satellite Capsule

Climaxes Successful Space Test

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An Air Force plane, swooping over the Pacific, Monday made history's second aerial catch of a capsule kicked from an orbiting satellite.

A big C119 Flying Box Car, dubbed Pelican II and piloted by Capt. Gene W. Jones of New York, snagged the parachute of an instrument package from Discoverer XVII—a sophisticated new moonlet expected to become a work-horse in various United States satellite programs.

Lapse Of 10 Minutes

The gold-plated, 300-pound capsule was ejected on the 31st orbital pass, a little more than two days after its rocket was launched at this West Coast space base.

Reverse rockets slowed it, then its parachute blossomed and it floated down over the ocean near Hawaii.

The plane crew spotted it 10 minutes later, snatched it with a trapeze-like device, and headed for Hawaii.

The Air Force said: "From first orbit acquisition through re-entry and recovery this has been our most successful operation in the Discoverer series."

On Second Try

Thus, on only the second try, the Air Force scored a success with its new model satellite, Agena B. Try Number 1, with Discoverer XVII, failed when the shot failed to achieve orbit. With the old model, Agena A, there were 12 failures before the first success.

Discoverer XVII was launched from here at 12:42 p.m. Saturday. Its radio signals were had on its first trip around the earth's poles but later improved and were still clear Monday.

The signal for capsule ejection, from a tracking station in Alaska, was delayed 24 hours to enable the satellite to gather more information.

Spy Gear Test

Maj. Gen. O. J. Rittland, commander of the Air Force's Ballistic Missile Division in Inglewood, Calif., said Monday night the capsule carried instruments to record sun spot activity in space. He said the satellite was circling the earth during an intense period of sun spot activity and may produce remarkable data on the aurora borealis.

It is also known that satellites of this type, called Agena B to show an advance over earlier Agena A models, were designed to test spy gear for future launchings in the Samos and Midas series.

Samos satellites will contain cameras and television equipment, capable of photographing potential military targets as the polar-orbiting vehicles whiz over Russian territory several times each day. Midas satellites will contain infrared (heat-sensitive) devices able to warn the United States of missile launchings anywhere in the world.

The capsules are designed to carry back to earth photographic films and other data too detailed or secret to be sent back electronically.

Cordial Conference

JFK, Nixon Meet

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP)—John F. Kennedy paid a perhaps unprecedented call Monday on the man he defeated for the presidency to discuss in an atmosphere of cordiality the great problems of a political transition and world affairs.

Side by side in a villa, with the sound of the surf outside, Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon chatted for 63 minutes.

Kennedy said later there was no discussion of a position for the vice president in the new administration.

In separate news conferences afterward, each said the session was cordial and helpful.

It was Kennedy who made the overtures for the meeting with the man whom he fought all over the country in the weeks of rigorous campaigning before Tuesday's election. And it was Kennedy, the winner, who came to see Nixon, the loser, in what the vice president termed "a very gracious act."

"The fact he wanted to come here, I think," Nixon said, "is a very excellent example to the American people and the whole world how our system works."

While there were deep differences during the campaign, Nixon said, now that the decision is made, the meeting Monday is "no tie to all the world there will be no differences we will have in the next four years based on personal considerations."

While there will be opposition to policies with which the Republicans disagree, Nixon said he and the leaders of his party will "provide constructive opposition."

The two men now expect to get together again, probably within the month, in Washington to pick up the talks where they left off Monday on the questions of transition and foreign policy.

Kennedy said, too, that he definitely expects to meet with President Eisenhower before the Jan. 20 inauguration.

This, he said, will be at a time "convenient for the President," perhaps early next month.

There was any reference to the possibility of bringing Republicans into some cabinet or other top spots in a demonstration of bipartisanship? Both Kennedy and Nixon left this up in the air.

The vice president said it was up to Kennedy to do any talking on that subject. But the president-elect said he preferred to stand on his own statement that problems of transition, and problems which face this nation around the world, were the subject matter Monday.

Relaxed, Friendly

The two men appeared completely relaxed and friendly, as they have been through 14 years together in Congress. They once met here previously while vacationing.

Now the two are vacationing in Florida again, Nixon here and Kennedy at the ocean front home of his parents 80 miles to the north at Palm Beach.

The president-elect telephoned Nixon Saturday night and suggested a meeting. Nixon said he offered to go to Palm Beach but Kennedy wanted to come here instead.

The Massachusetts Senator flew down in his private plane, rode through Coral Gables and the outskirts of Miami in a style reminiscent of his campaign, and arrived at the Key Biscayne Hotel at 11:35 a.m. Thousands cheered him along the route.

Nixon was waiting for him on the steps, a smile playing across his face, a hand outstretched and a "glad to see you" welcome.

Once at the villa, they went inside alone, with no aides or even Secret Service men present.

Senator Denies He Plans Switch

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. Harold Flack, (R-Luzerne), Monday said he knew nothing about reports that he was being pressured to vote with the Democrats in the next session of the legislature.

Luzerne County went Democratic in the election last week but Flack said he had not even considered teaming up with the Democrats.

General Assembly Adjourns Session

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's lawmakers agreed quickly Monday to end the first annual legislative session in the state's history.

In quick succession, the Republican-controlled Senate and the Democratic-dominated House unanimously passed a resolution winding up business 16 days before the automatic expiration of the lawmakers' terms.

Thus ended a months-long stalemate which had seen House Democrats frustrated time and again in attempts to convince the Senate to close up shop for good.

Hinged on Vote Frauds

Democrats argued that the session—the first under the constitutional amendment providing for annual instead of biennial assembly meetings—had nothing to do since the first few weeks. But Republicans kept the session going by a string of recesses.

In recent weeks, Republicans had said the session should continue to give backing, and subpoena powers, to the Senate vote fraud investigation committee which is operating in Philadelphia.

But Sen. William Z. Scott, R-Carbon, committee chairman, said Monday he felt the committee could complete its job without subpoena powers.

He said the committee should have recommendations on remedial legislation early in the 1961 session.

Referendum Sought By Lumumba

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba asked the United Nations Monday to supervise a referendum in the Congo as a prelude to election of a new president. He said such a step was necessary to end a reign of terror under his rival, President Joseph Kasavubu.

Lumumba's request came as Pierre Wigny, Belgian foreign minister, threatened withdrawal of his country from the United Nations, and described the U. N. operation in the Congo as a failure.

Wigny made his statements at a news conference called by him to deny U. N. charges that Belgian nationals are trying to stir up trouble in their former African colony.

Wigny said that the report submitted recently by Indian Ambassador Rajeshwar Dayal, U. N. special representative in the Congo, disclosed the failure of the United Nations to restore order in the new African republic.

152 Youngsters Perish In Fire

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A roaring fire set off by a movie projection room explosion killed 152 school children at a special showing of an educational film Sunday night in the town of Amude, officials said Monday.

It was described as Syria's worst fire disaster in memory. Nearly every family in Amude, on the Turkish border 400 miles northeast of Damascus, lost a child in the blaze.

The fire swept the wooden theater building and burned on for hours.

Integrate Schools

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Four Negro girls, protected by U. S. marshals, entered first grade classes in two formerly white New Orleans public schools Monday, breaching a racial barrier that had lasted since Reconstruction days.

There was no physical resistance to actual integration in the Deep South's largest city despite the presence of 75 state policemen working for the Louisiana Legislature.

Nor was there violence among the racially-mixed crowd hovering outside the schools. The whites booed and jeered when the marshals took the girls and their parents into the buildings. They cheered and applauded as white parents started taking their children out.

Denounces Judge

One Negro girl was taken to the William Frantz elementary school. As she went in, a white woman in the crowd yelled again and again: "They ought to take Judge Wright out and hang him by his toes."

It was U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright who issued the original desegregation order last May.

Three cars took three Negro girls to the McDonogh 19 school. As they went in, a white woman screamed: "Those black x x x. I'm going in there and get my children (sic) out. I'm no nigger lover."

She rushed into the three-story, grey stucco building and came out with her child. White spectators cheered.

But even as integration was taking affect, the state was taking legal action to halt it.

Civil Dist. Judge Luther Hall in New Orleans signed an order asked by the state against four members of the five-member, New Orleans School Board.

The order restrained the four from taking any action "whatsoever in interfering in any way with the operation of the school system by the legislature." Hall set Nov. 18 for a hearing.

In Baton Rouge, Civil Dist. Judge Fred LeBlanc signed a temporary order sought by two private citizens restraining the New Orleans school board from using any money. It was filed by George Singmann and Lewis Doherty Jr. as citizens and taxpayers.

An angry legislature, meeting in special session at Baton Rouge, ousted the four Orleans Parish School Board members who complied with the federal order to integrate. Only Emile Wagner Jr., a segregation leader, was not named.

The people outside the school, kept away from the school by city police, were also angry.

One Negro girl, wearing a white dress and with white ribbons in her hair, drew boos at the Frantz school.

"The niggers are going to take over. They're going to run us all out of here," one spectator yelled.

School Board President Lloyd Rittiner told newsmen he believed "the worst is over" and the lack of any "appreciable amount of demonstrations indicates the people of New Orleans are going to accept the inevitable."

School Supt. James Redmond said the attendance at McDonogh 19—which has a normal enrollment of 467—was 94 at 8:30 a.m. and dipped to 40 at 1:20 p.m. At Frantz—its normal enrollment 576—attendance at school's opening was 105 and dropped to 50 at 1:20 p.m.

As to those who skipped school Monday, Redmond said, or who were withdrawn, they will be treated as truants and "we'll figure out what to do about that tomorrow."

Work Progressing On Watersheds

WORK PROGRESS reports on the various watershed projects in Monroe County and surrounding counties have been released by Soil Conservation Service.

The reports disclosed that 1960 has been an especially encouraging year in regards to watershed activity throughout the Commonwealth. It showed that 37 firm applications had been received, with seven watersheds approved for operations while six more have been authorized for planning. Four of the completed plans have been in the operations phase during 1960 and eight structures will either be completed or nearly completed.

Better In '61

1961, the report stated, will be even better than previous years. It is hoped that more plans will be finished and more structures will be built than in any previous year.

Here is a status report of projects in Monroe County and others in area as of Nov. 1, 1960.

Brodhead Creek — It is expected that the work plan for the project will be completed yet this year. The plan will require Congressional approval. Four major flood detention structures are being planned for the watershed.

18,624 acres will be covered in this project. The application date was July 11, 1958 and date authorized for planning on April 21, 1959. The project covers Pike and Monroe Counties.

Pocono Creek — Preliminary investigations of these watersheds have been completed and reports made to the sponsors. The reports indicate that all of the projects are practicable and feasible. The watershed covers some 31,000 acres and application was made on June 6, 1958. It was approved on Sept. 18, 1958.

Greene-Dreher — The first sixteen structures planned for the project got underway last month. The structure will be completed in 1961. The sponsors have secured land rights for four other sites. Surveys and geological investigations for these structures will be completed this year. The project covers 46,220 acres in Wayne, Pike and Monroe Counties. It was filed in 1958 with project agreement signed in June 1960.

Lackawaxen Tributaries — This watershed was the first Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention project to enter the operations phase. Construction was started in 1959 with three structures being nearly completed. Two others will be completed this year. With five out of seven dams constructed the people of the watershed are already enjoying the protection afforded by the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Program. Landowners, assisted by the Soil Conservation District, are progressing at a rapid rate in applying the land treatment measures.

26,625 Acres — The Wayne County project covers 26,625 acres. The initial application made was in April 1956. The date work plan was approved on May 13, 1958.

Lower Brodhead — Project covers 71,808 acres in Monroe County. Application date was Sept. 26, 1960. Sponsors are Monroe County SCD and County commissioners.

Anything Else But Togas —

ROME (AP)—Togas are taboo on Via Veneto, where almost anything else goes.

Six toga-togged tourists—identified by police as five Americans and a Briton—discovered that. Police halted their toga parade on the famous Roman avenue, though they said their idea was "when in Rome, etc."

But that Rome, police told them, is long gone. Modern Italian law forbids wearing of togas or any other odd costume on the public streets unless a police permit is obtained in advance.

TOKYO (AP) — A three-man Cuban lawyer delegation is visiting Communist China, the New China News reports. The delegation is in Peiping at the invitation of Red China's political science and law association.

Few Advancement Changes Of Keystone Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The only major advancement for a Pennsylvanian in the new session of Congress appears to be Rep. Robert J. Corbett's move to ranking Republican on the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Other than this move of the veteran congressman from Pittsburgh the new Congress is expected to bring few changes in committee rankings of Pennsylvanians. Two men will continue as ranking Republicans on House committees. Rep. Carroll D. Kearns of Farrell on the Labor and Education Committee and John P. Saylor of Johnstown on Interior. Both won reelection last Tuesday.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Philadelphia advances to the fourth ranking Democrat of the Senate Banking Committee because of the defeat in Delaware of Sen. J. Allen Frear by Republican J. Caleb Boggs. Clark also becomes fifth instead of seventh ranking Democrat on the Senate Labor Committee.

Corbett, who moves up on the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee due to retirement of Rep. Edward H. Rens, R-Kans., was reelected to a ninth term last Tuesday. He will retain his post as second ranking Republican on the House Administration Committee.

Scott Benefits

Sen. Hugh Scott, the Keystone State's junior senator, benefits from retirement of Sen. Thomas E. Martin, R-Iowa. Scott will become third ranking member of his party on the Senate Public Works Committee in January. He remains No. 5 Republican on the Senate Commerce Committee.

The position of the second-ranking Republican on two other committees will be retained by two Pennsylvania GOP congressmen, also re-elected last week. These are Reps. Leon H. Givins of Oil City on the Armed Services Committee and Paul B. Dague of Downingtown on the Agriculture Committee.

Rep. Ivor D. Fenton of Mahanoy City, by virtue of his close victory last Tuesday, will advance to 5th

New E-Burg School Holds 'Open House'

EAST Stroudsburg Joint School District unveiled its new $3,300,000 junior and senior high school to the public officially last night at an "open house."

The school will be open to night and tomorrow evening to the general public. Tour times are 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. daily.

Students and teachers conducted the tour as more than 1,000 individuals passed their way through the corridors of the ultra-modern building.

The "indoctrination" courses covered all rooms, auditorium, gymnasium, swimming pool and heating plant.

Six Areas

The joint school district comprises, East Stroudsburg, Lehman Twp., Middle Smithfield, Porter Twp., Price Twp., and Smithfield.

Officers of the board are Herbert Young, president; Horace G. Walters, first vice president; C. Elwood Huffman, second vice president; Paul Nauman, third vice president; G. Willard Stettler, treasurer; and Tilghman B. Courtwright, secretary-business manager.

First Class

First class courses, with the most modern equipment, feature the new school. They include commercial, chemistry, biology, home economics, musical, physical education, languages and social studies departments. There are also many other facets pertaining to education in the gracious setup.

Also gracing the modern layout is a cafeteria which feeds scores of pupils and students daily.

County Inks Pay Vouchers

MONROE County Commissioners met yesterday and spent the greater part of the morning signing pay vouchers that were put aside temporarily last week so that any and all election matters could be handled.

Upon completion the vouchers board met with Charles Jones, executive secretary, Children's Aid Society.

The meeting is a monthly meeting at which time the operations of the past month are discussed.

Survives By Tire Air

NEW YORK (AP)—Put yourself in the place of Ferdinand Stoj, locked by burglars inside an airless car trunk for nearly six hours.

Fast-thinking Stoj survived in the stifling compartment by opening the valve of a spare tire to get a life-saving supply of air.

A night watchman locked in another auto trunk wasn't so fortunate. He suffocated.

Stoj, 36, a janitor in the Argonaut Building in midtown Manhattan, told this story: A trio of gunmen hid in the building until after closing time yesterday. They appeared in a Cadillac showroom wearing masks and forced Stoj, of the Bronx, into one auto trunk and Patrick J. Holland, 50, of Lindenhurst, N.Y., the night watchman, into another.

The gunmen ripped open a small office safe and fled with less than $100 in cash.

Stoj said he tried to open the trunk with a car jack, but that failed. Periodically he kept kicking at the trunk lid and taking a whiff of air from the spare tire. The relief night watchman heard the kicking when he arrived shortly after midnight.

When they went to free Holland, they found him dead.

Mrs. Higgins is also the chairman of the Stroudsburg Antique Show.

Sunday School Class To Meet

MRS. Robert B. Smith's Sunday School class of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church will meet in the social rooms at 6:30 tonight.

A covered dish supper will be held prior to the meeting. Scripture lesson will be read. All members are reminded to bring table service for the dinner.

with the center will be placed in the police car. The cost of the radio, including installation, will be $735 and it is expected to be completed and in operation by the first of January.

In other action by the council an ordinance was passed assessing a $50 fine on any person, not a resident of the Borough of Delaware Water Gap, found dumping garbage or other refuse on the borough dump.

The governing body also paid all tax refunds granted to property owners granted reductions by the Monroe County Commissioners. The amount was $723.24.

To straighten out the lines and safeguard the new reservoir, council purchased seven-tenths of an acre from Donato Latini for $50.

Seek No Passing Sign

Also present at the meeting was a traffic engineer from the Pennsylvania Highway Department, District Five, Allentown. The purpose was to show him the need for "No Passing" signs from the Deer Head Inn south on Route 611 to the Monroe County Line, near the point of the Gap.

The council also asked for a speed limit in this area, to be set at 35 miles per hour.

Chief of Police Fred Decker turned in $35 that had been collected in fines for the past month.

96 P.C. Collected

Mrs. Lillian Kitchen, tax collector, turned in $6,542. This represents the collection of more than 90 percent of the taxes due the borough.

Tank Jumps Divider

STRODSBURG police reported last night that the medium tank of the Stroudsburg U.S. Army Reserve jumped the island divider as it traveled west across the Inter-Borough bridge into Stroudsburg and knocked down a directional sign.

The tank is believed to have developed steering trouble as it came down the incline. Chief of Police John Tretheway escorted the vehicle up Main St. to Ann St. and to the local reserve garage.

Chief Tretheway will continue with the investigation today.

The group will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Bartonville Hotel.

Pen Argyl Post Office Dedicated

PEN ARGYL—The Pen Argyl Post Office, located at 7 S. Robinson Ave., was dedicated recently in an outdoor ceremony with Arthur Mattern, delivery service officer of the U. S. Post Office Department as the speaker.

Other officials participating in the ceremony were Harry Schmidt, regional real estate officer for the Postal Department; State Rep. Gus P. Verona, West Bangor; Peter Segatti, acting postmaster; Ernest Parsons, assistant postmaster and Burgess William Lutz.

Mattern commended the local staff for its services rendered to the area being served by the post office.

Parsons told the history of postal service in Pen Argyl from the first location in Jorytown section to the present site.

Flag Presented

Rep. Verona, presented a flag that had been flown over the Capitol building in Washington, D. C., to Segatti, who in turn presented it to Commander Kermit Houck, of the American Legion post, to raise over the new building.

In addition to Segatti and Parsons the staff includes Carleton R. Strunk, Sherwood J. Stancomb, Glenn A. S. Hooper, Charles M. Broad, Daniel Horn, James N. Sullivan, Dwayne T. Lobb, Walter M. Davey, Henry P. Davey and Edmund Wago.

Captain Reginald Worthy of the Pen Argyl Salvation Army gave the dedication prayer and Dr. Charles Kitto gave the invocation.

Following the ceremony of the one-story brick building an open house was held with refreshments being served.

Two Soldiers Hurt In Crash

DOWNTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Two Ft. Monmouth, N. J., soldiers were injured Sunday night when their car ran out of control and overturned on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, five miles east of the Duncannon Interchange.

Pfc. Raymond Friedman, 20, Johnstown, Pa., a passenger in the car, was admitted to Montgomery Hospital, Norristown, with severe head injuries. The driver, James F. Hartman, 22, Carnegie, Pa., was held for observation.

Trooper Paul Marchese said Hartman's car careened onto the medial strip and then swerved back across the highway, overturning at the guardrail at the right hand side of the turnpike.

Cigarette Sales Rise

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A study of Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp. showed cigarette sales during the first eight months of 1960 totaled 315,288,000 units or 4.8 per cent above the same period of 1959.

The company said that of the total 164,337,000 units were filter cigarettes and 150,951,000 non-filter. The study showed an increase of 9.2 per cent in volume of filter cigarettes over the previous year while non-filter brands were up .6 per cent.

Vets Hold Annual Parade

THE Stroudsburg Veterans Day parade, postponed from last Thursday because of inclement weather, was held last night. A thinly-spaced crowd viewed the short line of march.

Musical units included the Stroud Union High School Band and the drum and bugle corps of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and George N. Kemp, Post 346, American Legion.

In addition to heads of the two veterans organizations and Little League players, the line of march included a detachment from the 79th Division, U. S. Army Reserve, and equipment including a medium tank, trucks, jeeps and command cars.

Bangor Sewer Unit Head Gives Report

BANGOR — Bangor Borough Council last night heard a report from Walter Warrick, chairman of the sewer committee, in which tentative plans for a plumbers' code were announced.

A preliminary draft of the ordinance covering the code was presented to Council. Action was deferred to the December meeting.

Initial steps were also taken for the appointment of a plumbing inspector. Borough Secretary William J. Sleeman was instructed to advertise for applicants interested in the position.

Council set the rate of pay at $2 for each final inspection of a dwelling unit. The applicants must be residents of the borough. Deadline for applying is Dec. 5.

Tentative plans for a board of examiners to administer the plumbing code were discussed. It will include one councilman, the plumbing inspector and a borough plumber who is not connected with government. It was also announced that permits for sewer connections will be $1.

To Adopt Ordinance

Council announced it will adopt an ordinance to share in the earned income tax with the Bangor Borough School Board. It instructed the secretary to notify the board of its intention to share in the tax after June 30, 1961.

The finance committee of Council was instructed to confer with the board of education on a method to collect the tax.

A protest on the rate raise proposed by the Bangor Water Co. was formally passed by Council. They instructed the secretary to notify the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission of his objections.

Edward Vogel was named garbage dump supervisor at his bid of $200. Francis Moser of Roseto was the only other applicant.

A resolution to share in the Northampton County liquid fuel tax was adopted by council. It was reported the money will be used to make road improvements on S. Sixth St.

State Groups Will Spend $574,250 To Pull Tourists

PENNSYLVANIA state and municipal development organizations will spend a total of $574,250 this year for advertising and promotion. Their purpose is to help attract tourists, vacationers and industry to the state.

A national organization has made public its annual survey of the amounts set aside for advertising and promotion by 270 state, area and community groups throughout the United States. The report reveals that Pennsylvania will spend a total of $398,550 to attract vacationers and tourists and $175,700 to attract industry.

This nation's mobility, the desire of its people to see different places, other people, and the opportunity to do so offered by the ease of travel and more leisure time, have brought about far reaching changes in our economy and in addition have opened huge new markets for many kinds of goods and services, the report says.

A fact not generally recognized by many persons is that tourist expenditures benefit virtually every segment of a community's economic life, it continues.

Poconos $60,000

The Pennsylvania report is based on responses from the following organizations including the amount each plans to spend on vacation and tourist trade: the Greater Erie Chamber of Commerce, $23,250; the Vacation and Travel Development Bureau, Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, $205,000; the Philadelphia Convention and Visitors Bureau, $20,300; the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, $60,000.

These organizations reported that they would spend the following amounts on industry: the Greater Erie Chamber of Commerce, $21,000; the Philadelphia Convention and Visitors Bureau, $154,700.

Cubans Must Act

It is an axiom among dictators that when their internal power seems in danger they raise the specter of aggression from hostile outside forces. Cuba's Fidel Castro has reached that point in his career of chaos.

With mounting stridency he screams that the United States is about to invade his island. He knows that isn't going to happen.

In point of truth, he appears to be using the invasion scare to cloak substantial Cuban moves toward the camp of the Soviet Union. The United States has formally charged to the Organization of American States that Cuba is secretly getting arms and military technicians from the Russian Communist bloc.

This development comes on top of further sweeping economic gestures toward the Communists, including the seizure of U.S. enterprises. Our major investment in Cuba is now virtually wiped out.

But our deepest concern about Castro grows out of the fact that he plans to use his arms build-up to stir unrest in other Latin countries.

Here is a man who has proved a ghastly failure at governing his own land and now aims at exporting failure to his neighbors. He offers Latin America a "revolution" which promises in fact only economic turmoil, social chaos, and political bondage to communism.

America cannot solve the problem of Castro by invasion or by a more stringent economic embargo than we now impose. All we seem able to do is wait for the Cubans themselves to rise up and throw out their bearded fake.

Opinions Of Other Editors

An Excess Of Zeal

In a case before the Supreme Court the other day, Federal expediency and morality were neatly opposed, and the Court, to its credit, ruled against expediency.

Businessmen, it seems, are required to provide data on their operations to the Census Bureau. The understanding is that the information will be treated as confidential; specifically, the Bureau promises that it "cannot be used for purposes of taxation, investigation or regulation."

A couple of other Government agencies, however, have been exceedingly eager to get their hands on this material. These are the Federal Trade Commission and the Justice Department's Antitrust Division, and their argument could hardly be simpler: Access to the Census information would simplify their work in proceeding against what they consider suspicious merger activities.

A lower court rejected that rationalization; in refusing to review its decision, the High Court upheld the lower court's plain ruling: "The U. S. has given its word and should be permitted to keep it."

That is so obviously the right decision that it seems to us beyond further argument. Still, there is perhaps a further lesson in this case. It shows how zealotry inevitably comes to infect bureaucratic agencies invested with enormous power. The antitrust laws should indeed be enforced, but it is no less important that the enforcers be restrained from sweeping away basic moral principles in their efforts to intimidate the people.

Otherwise, such excessive zeal is a sure road to excessive—and finally inaccessible—police power.

Wall Street Journal

George Sokolsky Says . . .

New Secretary Of State

As soon as it was clear that John Kennedy was elected, the question began to be debated as to who would be the next Secretary of State.

Many names were mentioned: Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson, Eugene Black, Senator Fulbright, and so on.

No one had a lead because the Candidate had enough trouble to get himself elected and if he runs true to form, he has made no commitments and no promises, particularly as to Cabinet posts.

It will be possible to have a fairly clear picture of the nature and structure of the Kennedy Administration after he has announced his appointments of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of the Treasury.

If, for instance, he appoints a weak Secretary of State, it will be obvious that Kennedy, as President, means to manage his own foreign affairs. Roosevelt had Cordell Hull as his Secretary of State because he wanted to handle these problems himself.

President Truman had a strong man in office, Dean Acheson. President Eisenhower had had a strong man in John Foster Dulles and a weak man in Christian Herter. Dulles ran the State Department as though the President did not exist.

Acheson accepted more attacks than any Secretary in many decades; he would today be welcomed by many of those who attacked him.

If the President means to conduct his own foreign policy, nothing can stop him. The Secretary of State then becomes the head technician of a bureaucracy with very little initiative.

In the days of John Hay, Elihu Root and Charles Evans Hughes, this made little difference. The bureaucracy was small and controlled by patriotic motives and a Secretary could depend upon his subordinates.

Today, the State Department is a vast bureaucratic organization where it is possible for Deskmen to form policy as a result of day-by-day operations. We lost Cuba because of impurities down on the Desk level in the State Department.

By the time that a weak Secretary of State or a strong President can recognize what has been done, the United States is faced by a miserable fait accompli. That is the history of China in 1947-9; it is the history of Cuba in 1953-9.

One of the most serious problems that the State Department must deal with is the constant menace to it of homosexuals who have found employment in government.

It is extremely difficult to discover whether a person is a homosexual or not. The screening of prospective employees does not always bring out the one fact that so often imperils the Department.

For instance, when in the State Department or in the British Foreign Office there have been defectors to Soviet Russia, all the available evidence points to homosexuality.

Because a homosexual male or female is subject to blackmail, and since blackmail is practiced, particularly on individuals who have to do with codes or files, this matter is of great importance.

It is cited here only because the management of the State Department is a difficult one, requiring constant vigilance, especially as regards human weakness. To permit a man whose mother was Cuban to handle the Cuban Desk, for instance, is an error of management which is unforgivable.

When John Kennedy announces who will be Secretary of State, it will be possible to recognize whether he will run an efficient or a political organization. Sometimes, it is possible to combine competence and politics in one person—not too often, however. This is the telling appointment.

Such appointments, in this country, are personal with the President. That is not true in Great Britain, for instance, where the Foreign Minister is usually elected to the House of Commons. (The present one is in the House of Lords.)

He is a public official in his own right. He remains a member of Parliament even if he ceases to be the Foreign Minister. He is also a member of a party which has a voice in the conduct of its party's leaders. None of this is true in the United States.

The Secretary of State is a personal appointee of the President who can dismiss him at will. He need not be a member of the President's party. He need have no experience. He need only have the confidence of the President and the confirmation of the Senate.

Social Security Guide

Q. What were the major changes in the 1960 Amendments in the old-age, survivors, and disability provisions of the Social Security Act?

A. Disability benefits can now be paid at any age; amount of social security credit required to get benefits was reduced about one-third; most beneficiaries can earn more after 1960 and still get some benefits; survivors of insured workers who died before 1/1/40 and after 3/31/38 may now receive monthly benefits; some children of deceased parents will have their benefit amounts raised; dependent widowers of women who died before September 1950 may now get benefits; parents who work for sons or daughters (except household or non-business work) may get social security credits beginning in 1961; clergymen who failed to file waiver for social security credits may do so any time before 4/15/62.

Q. Recently, I hired a part-time employee to help me in my home. I am paying her $20 a week. When I asked for her social security card she said she doesn't need one as she is past age 65. Is she correct?

A. No. She needs a social security card and social security taxes must be paid on her cash wages, regardless of her age.

Maintaining A Gas Hog

The Pennsylvania Story

Higher Taxes?

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania's taxpayers stand an excellent chance of having their pockets plucked heavily next year. It isn't necessary that the professional brood of pickpockets grow in number, or that those in the game become more proficient. We're not talking about that kind of pocket picking.

Rather, it is one of those after-effect developments following last week's election.

When Pennsylvania's electorate went to the polls last week they undeniably brooded heavily in the direction of the Democratic administration of Governor David L. Lawrence.

This itself is rather patently borne out by either a quick or a studious look at what developed on the legislative front in the Keystone State.

Significantly, the slim hold administration Democrats had maintained in the State House of Representatives was increased from 108 to roughly 110 (it may go higher when final returns are all in), with 106 votes needed to pass legislation and for operational or administrative control of the lower chamber.

Thus for the upcoming 1961 legislative session, administration Democrats again may literally rule the roost in the House — thus easily clearing the way for administration legislation in that chamber.

In the 50-member Senate where 26 votes are needed for control, the story is slightly different but nevertheless closely approaching that of the House.

In last week's election runoff Pennsylvania Democrats were successful in plucking three seats in the upper chamber from the hands of anti-administration Republicans — with the showing there winding up on the "odd" count of 25 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

In the upper house however 26 votes are needed to pass legislation and while this present count does not give administration Democrats the full-footed grip they need for absolute control and immediate strength to pass administration legislation — it does narrow considerably the whip edge Republicans held this year. In other words, only one GOP anti-administration vote need be garnered for donkey riders in the upper chamber to push through a specific piece of administration legislation.

And this boils down to the taxpayer pick-pocketing potential for next year!

Suffice it to say the only thing in the past six years that has held down Democratic administration spending has been the action of the GOP-controlled Senate. That is a fact simply indicated by the record — plus by have consistently lambasted Republicans for cutting them back.

Or, merely look to the record of the past 1959 session which laid out the fiscal program for the two-year 1959-61 biennium: When the past partisan invective had been flung, the fiscal count for Pennsylvania's taxpayers stood like this: Mr. Lawrence originally asked for some $10 million in new tax revenues for the General Fund Budget alone. The anti-administration controlled Senate cut it back to $306 million.

Does it require a brilliant mathematician to figure out what would have happened had the Senate too been in the control of administration forces as was the House?

For 1961 though, the fiscal situation will be within one lone vote of actually being that way — which in the final analysis may find that needed lone vote gently swayed to the administration side!

Pocketbooks indeed may be slimmer in the Keystone State in 1961.

About Town

—By Gene Brown

A wealthy Texan checked into a New York hotel and requested that he be sent a bottle of whiskey and a girl six feet two inches tall and weighing 90 pounds. He was told that it would be very difficult to find a girl to meet his specifications and if so, it would be quite expensive.

"Money is no object," replied the Texan.

In due time, he was called and told that a girl had been found but not quite up to his specifications — she was six feet three inches and weighed 89 pounds.

"She'll be fine; send her up," he replied.

Shortly, the girl arrived and when the Texan opened the door, she looked like a figure 1. He told her to go over and stand in front of the fireplace and he would be back in a minute.

In a moment, he returned with his five-year-old daughter, and pointing his finger at the girl, he said:

"Now, Honey, that's what you're going to look like if you don't drink your milk."

The Allen-Scott Report

Briefed On Laos Crisis

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President-elect Kennedy is gravely disturbed over a highly alarming report on the chaotic situation in Laos.

It's in dire danger of falling into Communist hands before he takes office.

Congressional foreign affairs leaders, who have informed Kennedy of this menacing development, are being consulted by him on possible emergency measures to avert the threatened catastrophe in this small but strategic Far Eastern country, into which the U. S. has poured some $300 million in military and economic aid in recent years.

This pressing problem is among those that will be discussed by Kennedy and Vice President-elect Johnson when they confer at his ranch later this week.

These congressional advisers have informed Kennedy that the State Department is "actively encouraging" negotiations between the present neutralist government and the Communist-dominated Pathet Lao, who control northeastern Laos that adjoins Red China and its North Vietnam satellite.

Aim of neutralist Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma is to form a so-called "united front" government that includes Communist Pathet Lao officials.

Strongly backing that is Captain Kong Le, commander of the 2nd Paratroop Battalion, whose successful coup against the pro-Western regime in August led to the neutralist rule of Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Captain Kong Le is increasingly displaying Communist leanings.

A State Department memorandum states he staged an effusive welcome for the Russian Ambassador when he arrived in Laos.

Disturbing Details — This revealing memorandum was written by Assistant Secretary William Macomber for these congressional leaders who have transmitted it to President-elect Kennedy.

In this disturbing report, Macomber admits the situation in Laos is extremely critical and the outcome highly doubtful. He states that Kong Le's influence is still powerful, and all indications point to his being under Communist domination.

Publishable highlights of this grim State Department document are as follows:

"The immediate problem is to keep the Communist-led Pathet Lao guerrillas from exploiting the split among the non-Communist elements, and expanding their influence throughout the country and in the government. Kong Le's coup drew strong support from his Battalion because of disillusionment and bitterness over its having been used continuously in combat under difficult conditions while senior officers enjoyed a much better life in Vientiane (the capital)."

"Kong Le and the other coup leaders insisted that Prince Souvanna Phouma head a new government. He has consistently held that the independence of Laos could not be secured by military means, but only through strict neutrality and negotiation with the Pathet Lao. He is convinced that only the hard core of Pathet Lao is Communist, and the bulk of these guerrillas and their sympathizers would welcome the cessation of fighting and integration into the national community."

"At present, the southern part of the country is under the control of General Phoumi Nosavan and Prince Boun Oum who are anti-Communist, while the legally constituted government of Souvanna Phouma controls only the Vientiane area."

"We were heartened by the formation of a united government in late August. But that hope faded when some of the right-wing elements found it impossible to join the government in Vientiane. To help strengthen the government of Souvanna Phouma we released funds destined to pay all troops under that government (including the dissident 2d Paratroop Battalion and Pathet Lao forces)."

"We are continuing to urge the non-Communist patriotic elements in the country to unite."

Cheaper Fares — The Civil Aeronautics Board will authorize long-sought cuts in coach fare on flights to South America and Japan. These rate reductions, up to 35 percent, will be announced before the end of this year. Examples of these new fares are: Round-trip jet flight from New York to Buenos Aires $399 instead of $934; on a propeller plane $338 down from $873.

New economy round-trip fares from San Francisco to Tokyo will be $435 on jets and $405 on propeller planes.

Automobile touring in Mexico is being made a lot more comfortable and trouble-proof. The Mexican Tourism Department has put into operation a fleet of so-called "Tourist Guardian Angels" to assist motorists in traveling about the country.

These "Guardian Angel" crews consist of jeeps equipped with mechanical, medical and "moral boosting" supplies. The crews speak English, are trained mechanics, and are qualified to render help and first aid if needed. They also can supply useful information about Mexican history and advice on hotel and other accommodations.

New Movie Will Open At Sherman

STANLEY Kramer's "Inherit the Wind" which has been widely acclaimed by leading motion picture critics wherever it played will open Wednesday at the Sherman Theatre, Stroudsburg. The United Artists release stars Spencer Tracy, Frederic March and Gene Kelly.

Produced and directed by Kramer based on the Broadway smash by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, "Inherit the Wind" was inspired by the famed Scopes "Monkey Trial" of 1925 in Dayton, Tennessee.

Tracy portrays the defense attorney, a character patterned after Clarence Darrow, who represented a young school teacher accused of teaching the theory of evolution in violation of a state law.

March is cast as the prosecutor, similar to William Jennings Bryan, who travelled to Dayton to represent the state. March was honored with the "Best Actor" award at the recent Berlin Film Festival for his portrayal in "Inherit the Wind."

Kelly is seen as a reporter reminiscent of H. L. Mencklin, who covered the original courtroom proceedings and dubbed the case the "Monkey Trial."

Boy Remanded To Study Center

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An 11-year-old boy was remanded to the Youth Study Center Monday as the result of a school fight police said led to the death of his nine-year-old opponent.

"On the evidence before me now," said Judge Sydney Hoffman, "I can't see where there has been any crime. It appears to have been a simple fight. Nevertheless, I am remanding this boy to Youth Study Center for a complete examination."

Det. Raymond Kennedy of the homicide squad told the judge that Edward Jones confirmed he fought with Howard Upchurch in the yard of a South Philadelphia public school during recess Nov. 8.

During the scuffle, the detective said, Upchurch fell to the ground and hit his head on the pavement. The boys returned to class, that night Upchurch suffered a convulsion and died later in a hospital. An autopsy showed death was due to a brain hemorrhage.

Matamoras School Audit Is Completed

(Fourth in a series of six)
HARRISBURG — The audit of Matamoras School District, Pike County, has recently been completed for the school year ending June 30, 1959. A copy has been forwarded to Gov. Lawrence and to the school district.

The report showed that expenditures from the General Fund aggregated $147,428.15 and state reimbursements and subsidies received during the school year ending June 30, 1959, totaled $88,307.86.

Recommendations
It was recommended by the Auditor General that compliance with the school code which states that a fiscal year begins on the first Monday in July each year be complied with by the school district.

In the review of cash receipts and disbursements there were areas in which the auditor suggested the use of correct or improved procedures.

The suggestions were: maintain a responsible and accurate classification in the posting of cash journal entries; and a reconciliation of state reimbursements requested with moneys actually received.

Hudson Paper Purchases Angel
NEW YORK (AP)—Hudson Pulp & Paper Corp. has bought all the outstanding stock of Angel Soft Tissue Mills, Inc., of Thomson, N. Y., Hudson President William Mazer said.

Hudson is an integrated producer and marketer of Kraft and Tissue products while Angel Soft makes facial tissue.

Terms of the transaction were not disclosed. Mazer said Angel Soft operations would be continued under the present management as a separate company and production would be increased.

Knows Meaning Of Education

Douglas Cramer, a seventh grade pupil in the Stroud Union Schools, wrote on "What Education Means to Me" during the school district's observance of American Education Week. His article follows:

I AM a seventh grade pupil at Stroud Union High School. As you probably know from Nov. 6th to Nov. 12th is American Education Week.

During this week people should consider the importance of education.

As young people grow up they will have to prepare themselves for maturity. These young people are taught the basic skills, such as reading, writing, and arithmetic, so that they may apply them to their work when they are grown up. Education plays an important part in a person's life.

Science, geography, English, and social studies are taught in the elementary schools. In addition to these subjects a person is taught geometry, algebra, physics, chemistry, and biology when you reach high school.

Adds to Knowledge

When I go to school I learn many things I had not known in the past. By working and studying in school I add to my store of knowledge, gain confidence in myself, and become better acquainted with my classmates.

Our great country needs leaders who can guide it through all of its troubles and problems. We should develop the youth of today into good Americans of tomorrow by teaching them in schools. During this American Education Week everyone should take into consideration the fact that we can make a strong America through education.

Directors elected were: Willard Croft, Robert Staph, Claude Smith, Verna Simons, Richard McLain, Samuel DeFrehn and George Schmalze.

Other directors whose terms continue are Lloyd Carlton, Carroll Fetherman, Clayton Northup, Fred McLain, Webster Gilpin, William Evans, Allen Edwards, Willard Newcomer, Bruce Banks, Lawrence Simons, Lewis Osborn, S. Elmore Haag, Dr. Robert Rochfort and Matilda Osborn.

'60 Event Success
The annual report was given for the successful 1960 fair. Fair dates for 1961 were set for August 30 and 31, September 1 and 2.

Ted Ash, of "Timbertop" was chosen to head the horse show committee. The horse show, new this past season, was very well received, it was noted.

Suggested changes in the next fair were discussed and will be brought up at the next meeting of the association.

Lawrence Downs Cabinet Talk
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Gov. David Lawrence said Monday he has two more years left as chief executive of Pennsylvania and is going to finish the job. Thus he denied published reports he might take a cabinet post in the administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., also denied he has any cabinet ambition. He made his comment in Philadelphia.

Lawrence is touring Argentina with some 30 other governors. He and Clark were mentioned by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette as possibilities to head the department of urban affairs, if Kennedy creates such a cabinet office.

Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia also had been mentioned previously for that post.

Harness Racing Legality Exceptions Are Dismissed

HARRISBURG (AP)— Exceptions to a ruling upholding the legality of Pennsylvania's 1959 harness racing law were dismissed Monday by Dauphin County Court, clearing the way for an appeal to a higher tribunal.

The exceptions were filed last month by counsel for representatives of the Lord's Day Alliance of Philadelphia. The court's action cleared the way for the Alliance to the State Supreme Court.

Agreed To Waive
The court acted after attorneys for the Philadelphia church group and the State Harness Racing Commission agreed to waive further arguments on the challenges filed against the Sept. 21 court decision. Arguments had been slated Nov. 30.

The law permitted establishment of pari-mutuel harness tracks in counties where the voters approve in special referendum.

Tot, 11 Months, Suffocates

MONESSEN, Pa. (AP)—An 11-month-old Negro boy, sleeping in a make-shift cardboard box, suffocated early Monday in a fire at his home. His two brothers and a sister, also sleeping, were rescued.

Two unidentified police officers, who turned in the alarm, found the three children, ages 3, 5 and 10, in a bedroom and carried them out of the house. But Edwin Crable was found dead in the box used as his bed.

Police Chief Michael Kovink said Gloria Crable, 32, the mother, was not home at the time of the fire. He said she would be charged with neglect of minor children.

Just Between Us —

"And let us not forget to be kind" — goes the Woman's Club collect and I'll have to give them credit — they are kind, even when it hurts. As I feel it must for some of them yesterday. Hearing me babble on about Italy once might be curiosity; twice is straining courtesy, but for a few of them it was three times.

I tried not to repeat myself, but some of those words had an awfully familiar ring. I kept wishing I'd learned an Italian folk dance or something for their sakes. "Arrivederci, Roma" — and boy, I'll bet they wish I would.

Italy, I notice, has just come through an election, too, and Peter reports the campaign was a humdinger. They had so many signs that there was a time when it looked as if the Coliseum might get wall-papered with them and the Roman Forum disappear under posters.

It's interesting: collecting impressions of their homeland from returning travelers. Peter found New York City dark and rather drab—which is a funny impression of the Great White Way but it is true that Rome has a lot more street lights and the buildings themselves: pink and salmon and blue, are brighter and lower with more sky showing.

Returning earlier in the year, Linda's comment was "Everybody in the restaurants speaks so quietly, I feel as if I'm shouting — and it's a shock to realize that they can understand English!" and Topper's "The whole country is so green."

Well, the country isn't green now and with the leaves gone, all the scars of construction operation are showing. Getting home without blowing a tire, breaking a spring or having loose rocks knock holes in the radiator is more good luck than good management.

But you know something? I wouldn't trade you for anybody. Which is lucky because I don't know anybody else who wants me not in such large doses, anyway.

No Counterpart In Rome, Local Woman's Club Hears

It would be difficult to find a comparable group of Italian women attending an afternoon meeting of a Woman's Club, Mrs. Horace Westbrook told members of the Woman's Club of Stroudsburg yesterday at their meeting yesterday afternoon at the Stroud Community House.

Mrs. Westbrook, family fare editor of the Daily Record, was reminiscing about her summer in Italy. There are women of leisure and culture in Rome, she reported, but their schedules are far different with their afternoons taken up with rest and their evenings with dinner which isn't served until nine.

"The 'ordinary' housewife wouldn't be here either," she said, since for those without maids, shopping for food is a daily and time consuming task. There is a growing middle class in Italy and with leisure there may be a growing interest in women's organizations, she said, adding that the Italian is not geared to a rigid time schedule.

Describing some of the advanced architecture and refinements of living in ancient Rome, she concluded: "What surprised me was not the difference in living standards of a thousand years ago, but how little we have advanced. I wonder if we have advanced much further in human relationships? We may have lost something when we discarded in favor of efficiency and routine the ability to enjoy time for itself rather than something to be used up to get to some future time."

There was a large attendance at the meeting which was preceded by dessert served in the dining room with a silver candelabra holding fruit and flowers in dominant colors of orange and yellow with burnt orange candles.

Mrs. E. H. Wyckoff and Mrs. Paul W. Lloyd poured. Mrs. Arthur Slee, Mrs. Henry Surrey and Mrs. Edwin Oettel were chairmen of the hostess committee which also included Mrs. H. Burton George, Mrs. Warren F. Mikels, Mrs. George T. Robinson, Mrs. Alfred L. Rhoads, and Mrs. Grant W. Nitrauer.

Mrs. Thomas McCool led the pledge of allegiance and Mrs. Roger Dunning gave the invocation. Mrs. Florence Wendle was introduced as a new member.

Mrs. William Hannas presided at the meeting reporting on the county federation meeting and the seminar on Community Improvement held in Philadelphia. She announced that members may invite guests to the Christmas meeting which will feature a harpist.

A card party has been scheduled for the night of January 4. It was announced, Miss Margaret Mutchler, co-chairman of ways and means, announced Christmas cards for sale as well as informal note paper and ash trays with the etching of the Stroud Community House.

Mrs. Hannas closed the meeting with a Thanksgiving message.

Roosevelt Film Set For Grand

OF ALL THE Roosevelts depicted in "Sunrise at Campobello," the Warner Bros. motion picture version of Dore Schary's prize-winning stage play about the lives of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and members of his family, two have died and the survivors are flourishing in widely diverse ways. The Technicolor production opens Wednesday at the Grand Theater, East Stroudsburg.

The first to pass away was Sara Delano Roosevelt, FDR's mother, on September 7, 1941, at almost 87 years of age. Her son, the President, died at 63 on April 12, 1945, on the eve of the end of World War II. Eleanor Roosevelt, FDR's widow, is busy as a writer, syndicated news paper columnist, lecturer, world traveler and "first lady of the world." She was 76 on October 11.

Of the five children, eldest son James is now serving his third term as a Democratic member of Congress from the 26th District of California.

Ralph Bellamy and Greer Garson star as FDR and his wife in the film.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 8. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Nazareth, Northampton Tops In Area

By FRED WALTERS
HARRISBURG (AP)—Lancaster's long winning streak finally has been snapped, climaxing a destructive season on long-run strings.

Milton Hershey, an in-and-out team that has provided heartaches for a few teams this year, broke the streak at 19 Saturday with a 12-7 victory.

That leaves only Wyomissing, which has finished its season, and Clifton Heights, which has one game left, with streaks reaching back to the 1958 season. Albert Gallatin also hasn't been beaten the past two years, but two ties have prevented it from putting together a streak. Wyomissing has won 21 straight; Clifton Heights, 16.

In seeing its record shattered, Lancaster joined a big list of long-run winners who have fallen by the wayside in the 1960 Pennsylvania high school season.

The prominent casualties have been Braddock, Ambler, Northampton, Richland Twp. and Johnstown.

Consolation

Lancaster followers did get some consolation out of Saturday's action in the fact the Tornadoes' only challenger for the Central Penn title, Harrisburg Penn., also lost and thereby allowed Lancaster to clinch the title.

Elsewhere around the state:

Northwest—Berwick took over the East Penn southern division top spot by whipping previously unbeaten Coal Twp., 27-0; West Scranton is still the northern division leader.

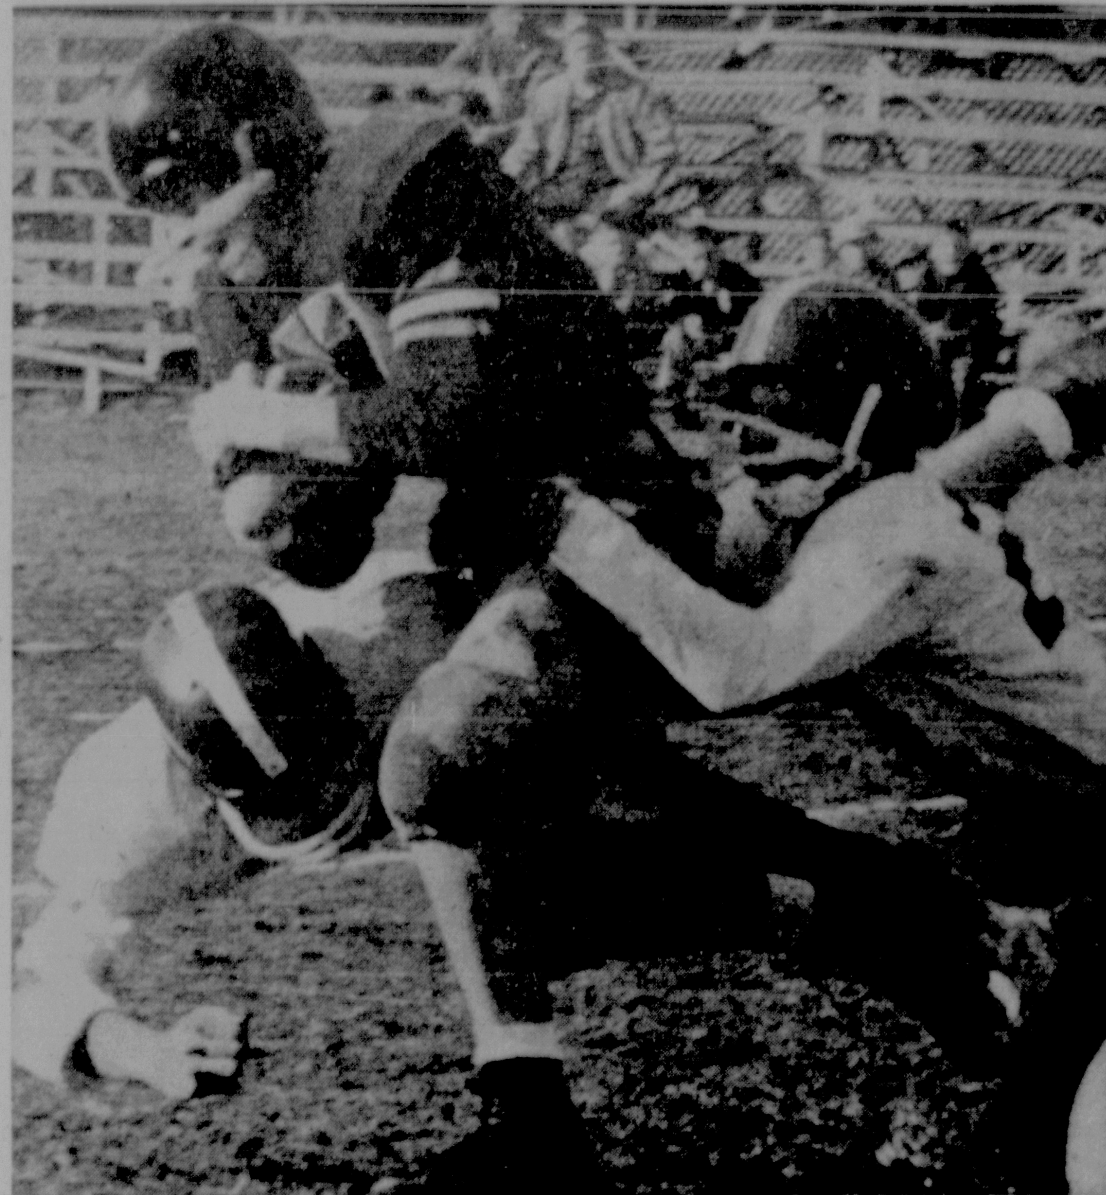

Wilkes-Barre GAR moved out in front in the Wyoming Valley by beating Kingston.

Northampton leads the Lehigh Valley going into Thanksgiving Day finale with Catasauqua; Nazareth is the Lehigh-Northampton front-runner.

Midstate—Lock Haven clinched the West Penn and Susquehanna titles over the weekend while Carlisle beat Chambersburg for the South Penn championship. Littleton beat Southwestern for the Laurel crown. Bald Eagle-Nittany clinched the West Branch.

Southwest—Westinghouse won the Pittsburgh city championship, 39-7 over Allegheny; Sewickley, the WPIAL title, 14-7 over Beaver, and Washington Twp. took the WPIAL-B title by decisively taking Perry-Lower Tyrone, 26-0.

Northwest—Erie Academy and Erie Cathedral Prep met Thursday for the Erie County Big Seven championship.

MAN IN THE MIDDLE—John Baylor (left) and Bob Starnes, Stroudsburg High gridders collaborate to stop Don Waginrich, a Northampton back. Action came last Saturday afternoon as the Konkrete Kids romped to a 73-7 win over the Mounties. Stroudsburg, hampered all season long by injuries, dropped its eighth straight decision. Northampton, atop Lehigh Valley League with a 6-0 record, has a season log of 6 and 2. (Staff Photo By MacLeod)

Dyas Continues To Boot Auburn To Exciting Wins

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—The fellow with the most exciting foot in college football shrugged off a painful hip injury and a bad snap from center when he kicked his fourth game-winning field goal of the season for Auburn and his 12th in eight games.

A Georgia player threw a fierce block on Ed Dyas in the third quarter that left the Auburn fullback in agony. But when the Tigers needed to unlock a 6-6 tie with less than a minute to play Saturday, in came Dyas to kick Georgia into submission.

He added Georgia to his list of victims which already included other Southeastern Conference foes Kentucky, Georgia Tech and Florida.

A high snap from center made Dyas' third field goal of the game more difficult. Halfback Don Machen had to use an extra split-second to get the ball down to the kicking tee, and this caused Dyas to break stride. But he lofted the ball 22 yards dead center to present Auburn its 29th consecutive home victory.

Dyas also crashed the hard-nosed Georgia line for 110 yards, 33 more than the entire Georgia backfield managed on the ground. "He is probably the finest fullback in college football," Coach Wally Butts of Georgia said after the game. "It is almost impossible to stop Dyas when he gets up a head of steam."

It was the second tremendous Saturday in a row for the 20-year-old Mobile, Ala., senior. Against Mississippi State the week before, he scored 21 points and broke a national record when he kicked his eighth and ninth field goals.

Local Entries Finish High In Field Trials

TWO ENTRIES from Carbon County took top honors in the Monroe Beagle Club's Kuntz Memorial Trophy Trial on club grounds at Maple-in-the-Pines, Stroudsburg on Sunday.

Two Stroudsburg hounds in the 15-inch class captured second and third places respectively during the competition.

James Bradford's Ro-Mur-Frank took second place in the class and Yellow Creek Ike, owned by William Dildine, won third place honors.

Birch Creek-Si, 13-inch hound owned by Clarence Bauchspies, Lehighton, won first place over 27-starters in the class. Other winners were Birch Creek Teacher, owned by Lawrence T. Daubert, Walnutport, second; Indian Valley Molly, owned by C. Rogers, Walnutport, third; Paoli J & G Susie, owned by Daubert, fourth, and Carbon Hill Betsie, owned by Joseph Frassinelli, Summit Hill, next best qualified.

15-Inch Class

Judges were Robert Jaruszewski, Dover, N.J., and Robert Martin, Stroudsburg, with Jake Uliana, Pen Argyl, as field marshal.

In the 15-inch class with 15 starters, Behler's Babs II, owned by Allen Behler, Palmerton, won top honors. Ro-Mur-Frank, owned by James Bradford, Stroudsburg, was second; Yellow Creek Ike owned by William Dildine, Stroudsburg, third; Busy Mr. Ike, owned by Paul Stauffer, Bethlehem, fourth, and Toby's Golden Boy, owned by Vernon Tobias, Bangor, next best qualified.

Judges were Mike Zoltanski, Dover, N.J., and Glen Deddinger, Bangor, with Vernon Tobias, Bangor, field marshal.

Free Sub Rule Denied By NCAA

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—The NCAA has turned down a request by Gator Bowl officials to use free substitution in the Dec. 1 football game, preferring that regular college rules be followed.

In a letter released Monday by George Olson, general manager of the Gator Bowl, Paul Brechler of Denver, chairman of the NCAA extra events committee, wrote: "The committee feels it is highly desirable for all bowl games approved by the NCAA to be played under a uniform set of rules, and above all those laid down by the membership of the NCAA."

Americans Gain Tennis Semi-Finals

SYDNEY (AP)—Two American and two Australian Davis Cup teams Monday gained the doubles semifinals of the New South Wales Tennis Championships.

The top Yankee pair of Barry MacKay, Dayton, Ohio, and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, looked impressive in eliminating Fred Stolle and John Pearce of Australia 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Dennis Ralston, 18, Bakersfield, Calif., and Chuck McKinley, 19, St. Louis, advanced with victories over unseeded Australian combinations. Rod Laver and Bob Mark, the Australian doubles champions, beat Italian Davis cuppers Nicola Pietrangeli and Sergio Tecchini 6-2, 6-3, 11-9. The other Australian winners were Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson.

Medal Winner Realizes Dream

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Enrico Porro, who won Italy's first gold medal in the modern Olympics, has had a life time dream—to visit Greece, the birth place of the Olympic games.

Monday, 75-year-old Porro saw his dream come true.

He left aboard a plane for Athens. He was accompanied by young countryman Livio Berruti, winner of the 200-meter dash gold medal in Rome. Porro won a gold medal in Roman wrestling at London in 1908.

Dodgers-Orioles

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Dodgers were named Monday to play in the 1961 Hall of Fame baseball game on Monday, July 24.

It will be the 20th renewal of the exhibition game.

Ewbank Has Confidence In Colts' TD Ability

BALTIMORE (AP)—"We have confidence we can strike for the touchdown at any time," says Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts.

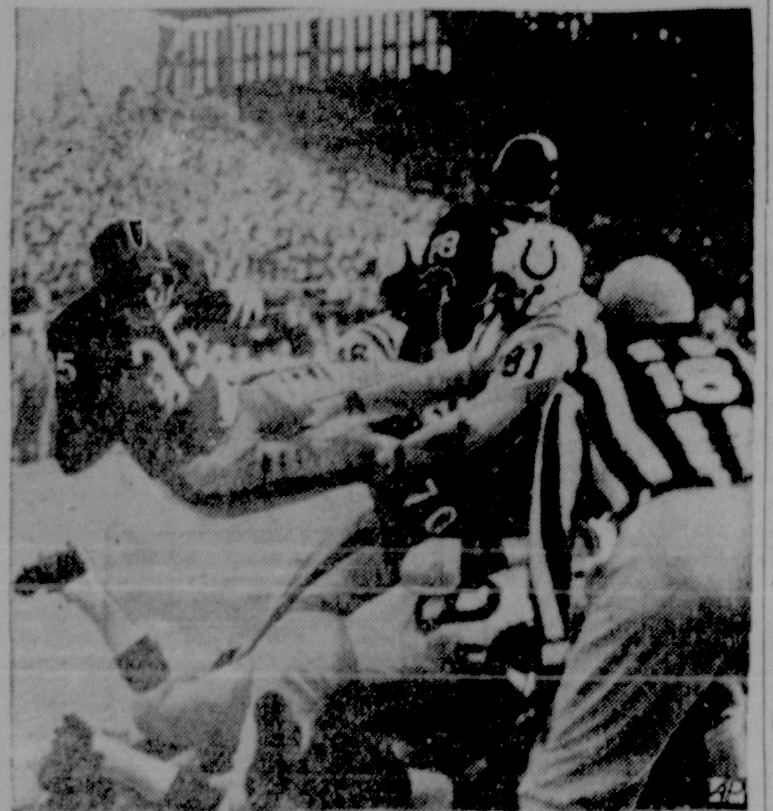

You have to believe it. The Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears certainly do.

They thought they had the Colts corralled on successive Sundays only to be beaten on daring, go-for-broke plays by quarterback John Unitas and halfback Lenny Moore.

The play Sunday that stunned the Bears was one the Colts don't even practice.

"It was something we improvised at the time," related Unitas. "We have pass patterns

FLYING TOUCHDOWN—Chicago Bears fullback Rick Casares (35) leaps over pileup of Bears and Baltimore Colts to score in opening period of game in Chicago, Nov. 13. Colt end, Ordell Braase (81), tried in vain to prevent the score. Colts won with a last minute touchdown, 24-20.

Players Fail To Restore Grid Coach

CINCINNATI (AP)—University of Cincinnati football players made an earnest, but apparently futile, effort Monday to restore head Coach George Blackburn to the job he quit last week.

Fifty-nine varsity and 35 freshmen players signed a letter addressed to President Walter C. Langsam and the athletic committee, that they get Blackburn to reconsider his resignation, which becomes effective Dec. 1.

The proposal, however, met with cool reception from U.C. Athletic Director George Smith and Vice President Ralph C. Bursick, head of the athletic committee, which will recommend a new coach.

"This does not alter the situation at all," Smith said. "Mr. Blackburn has resigned. It's a good gesture that they (the team) think that much of Blackie. However, it does not mean that the thinking of the administration will be altered."

Blackburn's contract had another year to run when he resigned. His team has won four games and lost five this season.

Vaulter Bragg Is Married

PENNS GROVE, N. J. (AP)—"Tarzan" Don Bragg, Olympic champion and world record holder in the pole vault, has taken Terry Fiore as his bride.

They were married Saturday in St. James Roman Catholic Church.

Hungry Sportsman

WITHIN a matter of a few days or weeks Old John Ring-neck will find himself the center of attraction in many areas. If you can get him centered in your shotgun pattern here is what to do with the fine fellow. Stuff him with walnuts and mushrooms and roast him! Pheasants lack the gamey taste characteristic of some wild fowl and game. Thus, a prolonged soaking in salt water is not necessary. In fact, it is undesirable. Thirty minutes is a great plenty. For your soaking solution use 1 tablespoon salt per quart water.

After soaking, dry the bird, then rub well with olive oil. When this is absorbed, repeat the oiling. Next, wrap the bird in a piece of toweling and place in refrigerator for an hour or so.

For your stuffing, mix 2 cups walnut meats (use large sections, not chopped meats), 1 cup mushrooms (2 four-oz. cans, drained), 1/4 cup minced celery and 1/4 cup cracker crumbs. Over this pour 1/4 cup grape juice and 1/2 cup sherry wine. Let dressing sit for at least 30 minutes, then press into pheasant. Catch any liquid that drains off for basting.

Place pheasant in baking pan, brush with melted butter and bake 30 minutes in hot oven (425 degrees). Reduce heat to low (300 degrees) and continue baking 2 1/2 hours. Baste frequently with melted butter and pan drippings.

JIM OWENS, THE UNIV. OF WASHINGTON COACH, WHOSE EFFORTS TO RETAIN THE BIG FIVE TITLE WERE HAMPERED BY THE LOSS OF BOB SCHLOEDT, ALL-AMERICA QUARTERBACK.

THE MUSKES HAVE BEEN HOPING TO MAKE IT TWO IN A ROW IN THE ROSE BOWL. THEY SCORED THE WEST'S BIGGEST WIN DURING THE BIG 10 PACT WHICH WAS STARTED IN 1947. WITH SCHLOEDT LEADING THE WAY THEY BEAT WISCONSIN 44-8 THIS YEAR.

Bantam Title Fight Friday

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO'S Eloy Sanchez who knocked out Jose Becerra and sent the world bantam-weight into retirement, meets Eder Jofre Friday night for the American National Boxing Association's version of the title.

The 118-pound contender clash at Los Angeles' Olympic Auditorium is a 15-rounder. The bout won't be broadcast or telecast.

Each has agreed that the winner will meet France's Alphonse Halimi in a fight-off to clear up the muddled title picture. Halimi, former world champion, earned British and European recognition as bantam weight king by defeating Ireland's Freddie Gilroy.

Sanchez floored Becerra, his countryman and idol, three times and knocked him out in the eighth round in the bullring at Juarez, Mexico, last Aug. 30. Becerra immediately retired, leaving the title vacant.

Sanchez, 24, has a 24-11 record. Jofre, also 24, is undefeated in 37 fights, including three draws. Of his 34 victories 26 were by knockout. Sanchez has scored only six knockouts.

Wednesday's Action

Another undefeated fighter, Cuba's Luis Rodriguez, is in action this week. The Cuban, top-ranking lightweight contender, meets Yama Bahama at Miami Beach Wednesday night.

In the television bout of the week Bob Hank of Detroit and Ace Armstrong of Elizabeth, N.J., meet in a 10-rounder at New York's Madison Square Garden Saturday night (ABC TV, 10 p.m., EST).

This is a "must" fight for Armstrong who dropped out of the top ten rankings following two losses to Nigerian Dick Tiger. His record is 18-2-1. Hank, sixth ranked in the 160-pound division, has a 46-12-2 record.

Another good middleweight fight matches contender Joey Giambra of Buffalo against

Bowling Highlights

THE BIG news of the evening was the conversion of the 7 and 10 pin split by Dick Smoke, leadoff man for Fabel's Dairy. This was the first conversion of this split in many years in this area. However, Happy Hour Tavern defeated the Dairy boys by a 3 to 1 count.

Baylor Motors rolled its high game of the season a 968 and gained an even split with Lawson's Automotive. Otto Groth's 584 trio was the top individual score.

Swisher Dist. Co. moved out in front of Fabel's Dairy by a 3 point margin via its four point victory over Pocono Pump Co. Sam Strunk's 210-576 was the big gun.

Bill Rusk rolled the top score of the night a 233 single and 635 total and led his team, Fabel's Gulf, to a 4 to 0 win over Stbg. Furnace Co.

This was Bill's top effort of the year.

Colonial 4 Man League Highlights
HENRY Baustien's 553 triple led Colonial Lanes to a 4 to 0 sweep of Legler's Pizzeria, Don Burnham's 510 was high for Legler's.

Sam Strunk's 235-641 took top honors for the night as Schoch's Esso defeated Sealest, 3-1. Dick Fabel's 214-583 was high for the Sealest team.

Stan Konawick's 202-596 passed the way for Peters Texaco as it swept Buds Men's Shop 4-1. Ernie Transue's 518 led the clothes men.
